

← No excuses!

Eileen Gray at the Pompidou →

Museum of Everything

Posted on February 22, 2013 by Sophie

This amazing collection of Outsider Art has come to Paris!! And it has taken home in an abandoned old school, called the Chalet Society right in the heart of St Germain des Près. Viewing this collection is a complete 'experience' as you walk around all the old rooms and artwork seethes from all available wallspace! You will be impressed by the quantity and quality of the very great outsider artists including Henry Darger, Martin Ramirez, etc. It has just been extended through the end of March and is a MUST SEE!!! There is an entire wall of Creative Growth artist, Dan Miller that has work also hanging in the hotel!

For more information: <http://www.museumofeverything.com/>

This entry was posted in Culture. Bookmark the permalink.