

Paris Cheapskate

Your guide to Paris, for cheap

ABOUT ME

View my complete profile

JENNA-MARIE WARNECKE

I'm a freelance writer whose enjoyment of Paris has only one limit: money. What to do in the très cher City of Lights? Whether you're an expat, a travel dreamer or a visitor looking for cheap things to do, see and eat in Paris, I've got you covered. On y va!

I'm a contributor to The Huffington Post, The Billfold and several Paris websites. Be sure to follow me on Twitter.

If you have suggestions or advertising inquiries, or to request writing services please email me at parischeapskate \(at\) gmailgmail.com).

And Now A Quick Word From Our Sponsors...

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 2012

The Museum of Everything (Win a Guest Post on P.C.!)

(image via Museum of Everything)

The Museum of Everything. Sounds pretty all-encompassing, right? This traveling exhibition started in London but has popped over to Italy, Russia and now Paris with its exposition of "undiscovered, unintentional and untrained artists from the 19th, 20th and 21st centuries." Which begs the question:

What the hell does that mean?

What I do know is that it involves over 500 artists displaying in the classrooms of a former Catholic seminary, and that there are essays by the likes of John Baldessari, David Byrne, Ed Ruscha and Nick Cave to accompany the expo.

I am dying to know what goes on in this underground art fest. Is it wild, like Dimanche Rouge? Is it seemingly unending, like New York's Armory Show? Is it experimental, interactive or just fun? Unfortunately, as I'm in New York at the moment I'm not able to head down to Saint-Germain to check it out myself. That's where you come in, dear reader. I'm requesting the services of one smarty-pants blogger (or bloggette) who will be in Paris sometime between now and Christmas to check out the Museum of Everything and write up a little review for Paris Cheapskate! This would be a great help to me and a good cross-promotion for you. The Museum is by-invitation only, so head over to the website, sign up, then shoot me an email with your name and blog address and let me know you want to write about this cool event, to parischeapskate \(at\) gmail \(dot\) comgmail(dot)com). Good luck!

LABELS

cheap art (27)
cheap drinks (13)
cheap eats (14)
cheap flicks (10)
cheap lit (17)
cheap music (38)
cheap shopping (8)
cheap theatre (1)
cheap thrills (23)
cheap travel (7)
free (72)
pro tips (9)

BLOG ARCHIVE

- ▼ 2012 (163)
 - ▼ November (8)
 - Pro Tip: Coffee For 1€ Or Less!
 - Discovering Street Art with Urbacolors
 - Makeover
 - Cheap Music: Japanther
 - The Museum of Everything \(Win a Guest Post on P.C....
 - Mois de la Photo
 - From Illiers To Combray
 - This Weekend in Paris: Scorpio Season Has Begun
 - October (18)
 - September (13)
 - August (13)
 - July (14)
 - June (19)
 - May (25)
 - April (27)
 - March (26)

FAVE BLOGS

A Cup Of Jo