The First Real Pop Shoe by Peter Blake

16 August 2010, 14.59 | Posted in Fashion | No comments »

Inspired by a pair worn by the artist himself, Sir Peter Blake's "The First Real Pop Shoe" is made from recycled check-book wallet leather. The shoes will feature his trademark heart, target, rainbow, and star motifs – each embroidered directly into the leather. Sure, there are many artist "designed" sneakers out there... but how many are by Peter Blake?

Pre-order is going on now. The shoes are all made to order and once 600 are sold, the gigs up. Available from Art Republic. (via Retro to Go).
